General Subject Description

This course forms a basis for the history and theory of architecture, which summarizes historical events in monumental architecture in both Eastern and Western ancient cultures and describes characteristics of architecture.

Learning Outcomes

This course forms a basis for the history and theory of architecture, which summarizes historical events in monumental architecture in both Eastern and Western ancient cultures and describes characteristics of architecture. The purpose of this course is to outline the main streams of development throughout the ages and to interpret those adopting present concepts of architecture. In lectures, the theoretical and historical relations of architecture are investigated from a general historical, artistic, and architectural, on occasion structural aspect.

Subject content

It covers the following topics: the concepts of the history of architecture, megalithic architecture in Europe, architecture of Ancient Egypt, architectural remains of Crete and Mycenae, architecture of Ancient Greece, the Etruscan culture, architecture in the Roman Empire, Early Christian architecture, Byzantine architecture, pre-Romanesque and Romanesque architecture.

Examination and evaluation system

In all cases. Annex 5 of the Statutes of the University of Pécs, the Code of Studies and Examinations (CSE) of the University of Pécs shall prevail. <https://english.mik.pte.hu/codes-and-regulations>

Task description

Students have to answer simple questions during the lectures. Each questionnaire will contain three questions. If the students are listening carefully to the lectures, they will be able to answer every question.

Besides the questionnaires students have to draw two simple drawing tasks and one complex, so called semester drawing. The simple drawing tasks should be drawn during lectures. The task is always related to the previously presented lectures of the semester. This means that in a simple drawing task the students have to make small drawings or sketches about a topic that was discussed during the previous lectures. All drawings should be prepared on draft papers in the size A/4.

The semester drawing should be drawn at home. This task is about a single building. Students have to draw a perspective and if it is possible a floor plan and a section or façade of a building. The buildings will be chosen by the lecturer. The drawing should be prepared on a draft paper in the size A/3. Students have to write the name of each drawing onto the paper (e.g. floor plan, longitudinal section etc.). Besides the name of the student, the name of the course, the name of the lecturer and the date should be written onto the A/3 paper.

Any kind of manual technique can be used, but pencil is preferred. The use of computer is not allowed.
